WAR HATE OF 10 YEARS AGO IS FORGOTTEN

Tenth Anniversary of U. S. Entry Finds Friendly Feeling at Capital

MOST PROBLEMS SOLVED Hundreds of Maimed Veterans Still Lie in Hospital, Paying War Price

BY DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright, 1927, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington — This is the week which marks the tenth anniversary of the entry of the United States into the world war. It is no exaggeration to say that while there are remnants of war activity, particularly in the large bureaus of the administration of veterans' affairs, the war has been almost forgotten.

The war hate which, of course, did not reach the same intensity here as abroad, has disappeared. The German ambassador mingles with the other members of the diplomatic corps, British and the Belgian ambassadors just as in pre-war days. In fact, on the day on which the United States just ten years ago severed diplomatic relations with Germany, there was a reception at the German embassy attended by official Washington and hardly a thought was given to that fateful anniversary which that very day.

And with the vanishing of war hate so have other aspects of the war been suddenly erased, for example, the theory that Germany never could pay reparations, which five years ago agitated publishers and newspapers throughout the world has been superseded by a remarkable confidence in the ability of Germany to pay, especially since the Dawes plan brought out a workable formula. It is a curious paradox, but there exists a good deal more confidence here than in Germany will pay her war debt than will France. Perhaps, it is because the will to pay has been strongly implanted in the German mind whereas the politicians in France have not yet permitted the French people to know that the war debt must be paid by Germany.

Few of the outstanding personalities who took part in war activity are still here. Eugene Meyer, who handled the War Finance Corporation, is still watching the affairs of that institution, for it still has loans to make, some of which are being handled by Herbert Hoover, who came here as food administrator, has been serving almost continuously since the war. He still retains some of the spirit of war-time, the readiness to break through red tape and do new things with governmental machinery. His office has grown to be one of the largest administrative institutions in Washington. The veterans' bureau, which for many years was a subject of controversy, has at last settled down to an effective routine.

Economic readjustment has on the whole left the central government with a feeling that in the main the last ten years have been marked by more prosperity than any similar period in American history. Most of the industries with their surpluses due to over-production, have been able to absorb their excess, with of course, the exception of agriculture whose troubles are still a painful subject, particularly in politics. So far as taxation is concerned the rates have gradually come down and the out-cry against excess profits taxes is already a faint memory, except in those industries where there is a heavy overhang from war days.

In one part of Washington, on the other hand, the war is not forgotten. It is in Walter Reed hospital where hundreds of veterans still lie, the dead lying over again the hours of their great adventure on the western front or on the high seas. Some of them wander about leaning heavily on their canes. Some of them stare blankly at a world they will never see again. For them, indeed, the war ten years after is not dead and never will be.

CANTONESE ADVANCE SOLONS' PAY DECIDED BY VOTE TODAY

Reforestation Also to Be Settled at Spring Election Throughout State

Milwaukee — (AP) — Mayoralty contests in several cities and the state-wide question of exempting forests and mineral lands from taxation and doubling the salary of members of the state legislature were being decided Tuesday at the spring elections in Wisconsin. Ideal weather prevailed in a greater portion of the state to encourage voters.

Elected associate justice of the supreme court exactly ten years ago this April, Justice Walter C. Owen was assured of reelection Tuesday being unopposed. Mr. Owen, five years attorney general of Wisconsin, at one time practiced law at Superior and Maiden Rock.

Submission of the increased salary proposal to the voters follows a long fight to help the Wisconsin legislators, said to be the worst paid lawmakers in the country. If approved, members of the assembly and senate will receive $1,000 — twice what they are now getting.

REFORESTATION PLAN Exemption from taxation of land on which trees are growing is part of the proposed plan to encourage reforestation in Wisconsin. Conservationists have argued that the land should not be taxed, while the trees are growing and that a plan for taxing the land when the timber is cut be worked out, along lines similar to those now in effect in Michigan.

Several Wisconsin cities were settling tense contests for mayor, notably Racine and Green Bay, where Mayor Armstrong of Racine, and Mayor Wisener of Green Bay, seeking reelection.

In Milwaukee, interest appeared to center in the attempt of the Socialists to capture four seats on the board of education, over the opposition of Republican and non-partisan candidates.

Governor Zimmerman made a special trip from the state capital to Milwaukee Tuesday to cast his vote at his home precinct in Tippecanoe. He returned to Madison as soon as he voted.

DEADLOCK STILL ON IN STUDENTS' STRIKE

Practically All Students Absent from Classes at Superior High School

Superior — (AP) — The deadlock between striking students of Central high school and the board of education, which refuses to call a meeting and consider the ousting of the strikers, continued Tuesday with no important developments. Practically all of the students were still on strike.

Shortly before noon an official count revealed 96 students in classes. At 11:30 student strikers from Central high attempted to enter the high school in the strike. Two patrolmen stationed at doors of East high kept out the agitators.

Only about 10 students had gathered on the school campus Tuesday morning, and it is asserted parents are keeping many of the strikers at home. F. R. Spencer, superintendent of schools, who, together with the board of education, ousted Miss Dickinson, in a formal statement Tuesday, defended his action, explaining how he had named Miss Dickinson for "failure to cooperate" with the school executive.

The strike seems to be on in earnest and the students declare they will not return to their classes until the board of education grants a special meeting to reconsider Miss Dickinson's case. Rev. A. T. Ekblad, president of the board of education, has persisted in refusing the students and a citizens committee to consider the matter again until April 18.

SUPERIOR TO BUILD AIRPORT, COMMITTEE VOTES

Superior — (AP) — Establishment of an air port here to serve United States mail and passenger service between the head of the lakes and the Twin Cities was decided Tuesday. A general order was issued to deal with the problem, one of the first investigated since the formation of the commission. Proposals had been made to reduce road congestion by increasing the number of bands on which broadcasting is now allowed.

CHAMBERS ISLAND SUGGESTED TO CAL AS VACATION SPOT

Chicago — (AP) — Chambers island, nestled 11 miles from the mainland at Green Bay, has been suggested to President Coolidge as the ideal spot for his summer White House. Former Senator Irvine Lenroot, Superior, made the suggestion.

The island has a main lodge and a group of separate cottages. It is reached over the main line of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad to Marinette or Menominee, thence by motor boat 11 miles to the island. The government maintains a lighthouse on one end of the island.

Chambers island is four miles in length and is three miles wide and has about 19 miles of wooded shore line. It contains 23 miles of bridge path and a lake five miles in circumference on the island is filled with game fish. Deer run freely over the entire 3,000 acres and eagles build their nests in the tall pines.

KING FERDINAND IS SINKING RAPIDLY AT RUMANIAN CAPITAL

Paris — (AP) — King Ferdinand of Rumania, Tuesday was fighting a losing battle in his efforts to overcome the ravages of his ailment. This was apparent even from the laconic bulletins issued at his bedside in Bucharest, but the latest reliable information to reach Paris from the Rumanian capital indicated that death was only a question of days, perhaps hours.

Premier Averescu issued a signed statement denying reports published abroad that there had been troop movements. Advances from Bucharest said the political groups in the kingdom were alive to the danger of Russia seizing the opportunity to take advantage of the disorganized political situation at such a juncture and that they now envisaged a coalition ministry to include all the parties.

M. Averescu conferred with former Premier Bratianu and other leaders with this end in view. Carol remained Tuesday at his villa in Neamtz, where his word of honor is that he would not return to Rumania without permission. Carol was waiting disconsolately Tuesday the arrival of a summons to his father's bedside.

SEVEN MEXICANS SHOT FOR SLAYING AMERICAN

Mexico City — (AP) — Tried by summary court martial for the kidnapping and murder of Edgar M. Wilkins, American engineer, seven men have been executed by a firing squad at Guadaluajara.

The guilt of the culprits was said to have been established at the court martial Sunday night, after the 10-year-old son of Wilkins had identified one of them Mariano Calzada, as the leader of the band which captured his father and himself. The executions took place early Monday morning at the municipal cemetery at Guadaluajara, near which town Wilkins was kidnapped. Calzada and two of the other men, Isidoro Perez and Vincente Ferolado, were said to have confessed the crime.

LEGION DECIDES TO ABANDON BASEBALL

Oney Johnston post of the American Legion will not sponsor the Appleton baseball team of the Fox River Valley league this season as it had planned earlier in the year. The decision was reconsidered at the meeting of the post Monday evening at Elk hall after a report on grounds and expenses was read. Inability to reach an agreement with the proprietors of the grounds is said to be the cause of the reconsideration. It is understood that C. O. Baetz, manager of the team last year, will handle it again this season.

WAVE LENGTH BANDS TO KEEP PRESENT LIMITS

Washington, D. C. — (AP) — Radio wave length bands now used for broadcasting will be confined to their present limits, the federal radio commission decided Tuesday. A general order was issued to deal with the problem, one of the first investigated since the formation of the commission. Proposals had been made to reduce road congestion by increasing the number of bands on which broadcasting is now allowed.

CAL WATCHES REPORTS FROM DANGER ZONE

Official Dispatches Confirm News Message Describing Growing Menace

Washington — (AP) — The Chinese situation was the chief subject of discussion at a prolonged cabinet meeting with President Coolidge Tuesday at which American efforts to provide maximum protection for this country's nationals in the danger zone were canvassed in detail.

Fears for Americans in north China, territory which is expected to be invaded soon by Cantonese nationalist troops, have spread among officials but President Coolidge has been assured that adequate protection for them is being provided.

While evacuation of Americans in south China is being rapidly carried out, with concentration at Shanghai, it was said Tuesday at the White House the President has been told that Americans in north China are to be concentrated at Tientsin as the center which could most readily be afforded the protection of American warships and troops. At Tientsin there is a force of approximately 800 American soldiers as a guard for the Peking-Tientsin railroad which would serve as a nucleus for American forces in the event it becomes necessary to assemble this country's citizens there.

The president has not been advised of any change of the plan of cooperation between Americans and other naval officers in the waters for the protection of nationals of all interested countries, it was said. As he understands it citizens of all foreign countries are being assembled at Shanghai and their protection is being divided as evenly as possible among the various naval forces there.

CANTONESE PUSH DRIVE

Shanghai — (AP) — The northward drive of the nationalists (Cantonese) along the railway leading to Tientsin was said Tuesday to be strong resistance. Northern forces captured Kwantung, 60 miles northwest of Nanking, Sunday after heavy fighting, and 200 nationalist wounded have arrived at the latter city. The nationalists are rushing reinforcements to that section.

A wireless dispatch from Nanking Tuesday reported strong anti-foreign feeling in that city, where collisions between rival factions of the Kuomintang were expected. Nationalist soldiers in uniform were seen Monday removing property from residences of foreigners there.

POWERS PROTEST

London — (AP) — Announcement from China that the United States, Great Britain and Japan have presented demands upon the Cantonese government for reparation for the Nanking outrages was expected in London Monday. The United States had instructed its minister in Peking what course to take.

It is stated that the British minister has already received his instructions.

FARMER SLAYER SAFE FROM MENACE OF CHAIR

Conway, S. C. — (AP) — For the first time in nearly six years Edmund B. Bigham, a farmer, Tuesday was found himself out of the shadows of an electric chair.

Twice saved from execution by the state supreme court granting new trials, he obtained a new outlook on life late Monday when, at the third trial, a jury found him guilty with a recommendation for mercy, which carries life imprisonment.

Ambulance Lawyers Face Disbarment In Milwaukee

Milwaukee — (AP) — The possibility of certain lawyers, the disbarment of all damage suits handled by "ambulance chasers" and now pending in Milwaukee courts may be dismissed, and the threat of a sweeping injunction to restrain certain law firms and their "runners" from continuing their practices, loom, following a hearing conducted before Judge Charles L. Aronson of the circuit court, Monday afternoon.

Judge Aronson heard the directors of the lawyers' club, on their petition filed Friday, calling for an inquiry into the charges of legal abuses. Addressing Judge Aronson on the mode of procedure to be adopted to remedy the situation, Lyman G. Wheeler, former president of the club, and now a stipendiary, suggested the following four steps: An Inquisition calling all those per-

In the center of the blue and white field are two large squares of red and white paper which offset the blue and form an artistic decoration.

Along the east and west and north and south walls, booths have been arranged where merchants will have displayed. The only break in the continuous row of booths will be at the north end where the entrance is located. Through the center of the hall from the north end to the center, two more rows of booths have been arranged. WISCONSIN BANKER DIES IN MISSISSIPPI

Milwaukee — (AP) — Fred R. Sidler, 50, assistant vice president of the First Wisconsin National bank, died in Pass Christian, Miss., Sunday. Born in Milwaukee, he entered the employ of the bank in 1898 as a messenger boy. He survived by his wife and a brother, Charles Sidler of Golden Lake.

WATCHMAN ADMITS STORY OF HOLD-UP WAS NOT ACCURATE

Tells Officers That Fire in Boiler Got Beyond His Control

The story told by Marcus Marx, 23, a watchman at the Menzies Shoe Co., New London, that he had been attacked by thugs a week ago last Monday night when fire was discovered in the building, was false, confessed Tuesday morning to Andrew Lusk, chief of police at New London, and a state fire 7.00.

Marx, who had started to work at the shoe company only recently, admitted that he had allowed the fire under the boiler to get beyond his control, resulting in the coal pile in the boiler room becoming ignited. Fearing that he might lose his job were he to admit the facts, he related to officials the first story that came to his mind.

No charges had been placed against the young man, who received an honorable discharge from the army at Fort Snell, Oklahoma, Dec. 2, and it was indicated that the matter might be dropped. He belonged to the 13th Field Artillery.

When firemen entered the shoe factory a week ago last Monday night, they found the coal pile burning, and discovered Marx lying on the floor nearby, apparently in a unconscious state. When he was revived, he said three men had entered the building and choked him. They gained entrance by breaking a window pane near the door and opening the latch on the inside.

Officials of the company and a detective have been investigating the affair since.

EX-OFFICIAL AT WAUPUN FACES FEDERAL COURT

New Orleans — (AP) — The removal of Charles N. Thompson, former assistant superintendent of the shoe factory at Leavenworth Federal prison, to Leavenworth, Kan., to face charges of aiding in the escape of George Carroll, a prison inmate, was ordered Monday in federal court. Thompson admitted his identity in open court and the removal was ordered. Thompson formerly was employed at the Wisconsin State prison at Waupun and is alleged to have hidden Carroll in a shoe box in the prison and then had the box removed to his rooms in Leavenworth.

Lost Treasure

Almost akin to the emotions experienced in finding buried treasure is the feeling you get when you have returned to you a large sum of money which you had lost and thought gone forever.

In Appleton, however, it behooves the leser to "sit tight" until an ad in the "Lost and Found" column has had a chance to function. The chances are greatly in your favor of thus having the lost article promptly returned to you.

Mrs. Henry Fulcer, 1008 W. Oklahoma St., recently lost a sum of money slightly in excess of $70. Her first thought was to insert notice in the "Lost and Found" column of the Post-Crescent. The money was promptly returned.

GANG LEADER KILLED WHILE UNDER ARREST

National Guardsmen Not Called but Are Held Ready for Emergency

SHOOTING IN NEGRO ZONE

All Mayoralty Candidates Confident of Victory at Opening of Voting

Chicago — (AP) — Chicago's most extraordinary mayoralty campaign — whose issues hustled the municipal boundaries and soared to foreign fields — Tuesday entered the voting stage, with 5,000 policemen special machine gun squads and armed plainclothesmen on guard at the polls.

Bombing of two Democratic political clubs on the north side early in the morning, long before the polls opened and the killing of Vincent "Schemer" Drucel, beer gang leader of the north side late Monday, apparently reached the peak of turbulence in pre-election hours but not the end.

Four hours after the polls had opened, a huge vote was being cast, a revolver attack was opened on a polling place in the Twenty-eighth ward, a Negro mob on West Lake-st. Three men speeding past the Thirty-second precinct voting place emptied their revolvers shattering windows but injuring no one. An election worker ran out and fired at the fleeing car.

One candidate, Mayor William W. Dewey, Democratic, came from Chicago from Massachusetts 45 years ago. He is a "first class" from Immigrant workers' aid, a superior court judge, and finally chief executive. His plea for election was based entirely on his municipal record.

Another candidate was William H. Thompson, another Bay State native, once a cowboy, mayor of Chicago from 1915 to 1923, and titular head of the Republican party in Chicago. His slogan was "America first." He inveighed against the league of Nations, the draft, the prohibition law and told King George to "keep his snoot" out of Chicago's affairs.

A third candidate, conceded only a bare chance of winning, was Dr. John Dill Robertson, former health commissioner under Thompson, who campaigned with the support of Fred Lundin, "The poor Swede," who served as Thompson's political godfather until Tuesday, was arrested on an abrupt party a few years ago.

SOLDIERS NOT CALLED

State soldiers were not called out, despite the plea of Sheriff Charles Craydon that it be kept in readiness; but Adjutant General Carlos Black of Springfield, maintained headquarters here Tuesday, prepared to have guardsmen on duty within two hours, if the emergency presented itself.

Two headquarters of Democrat political workers in Chicago were bombed early Tuesday by men riding in two automobiles. The fronts of both places were demolished, but no one was injured. The bombers escaped.

O'Brien said he had received threats that he would "be knocked off" after he had William Dammo, 30, arrested for pointing a revolver at him. The barn was owned by James Rowan, a Democratic worker.

Roundup of known outlaws, strong arm carrying and gunmen was started Monday. Vincent Drucel, 30-year-old gang leader and called by the police "one of the mightiest of all hoodlums," was shot to death by a police officer while being taken to jail following a pre-election raid.

Price of a downtown hotel, the headquarters of the two principal candidates was given a close scrutiny by police. A squad of detectives visited the lobby and "lanned" suspicious loungers, but made no arrests.

EXPECT 250,000 VOTES

More than 1,000,000 men and women were eligible to a vote — a record registration — and predictions were made that 250,000 ballots would be cast before the 4 o'clock poll closing.

Policeman Daniel Healy of the detective bureau shot and killed Drucel, a police officer, by the police known trouble makers on the eve of the mayoralty election. He was killed in a detective bureau squad car at Wacker drive and Clark street as the police were taking him to the criminal court building to answer to a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Drucel's death was the first fatal outbreak in one of the bitterest election campaigns in the city's history.

His attorney, seeking to locate him when he did not appear at the habeas corpus hearing, learned that he was in the county morgue instead of in court.

The killing of Drucel was the outcome of a violent quarrel with Police man Healy, in which 30 witnesses declared last night, Drucel had been the aggressor. His death writes into to another chapter in the record of violence and sudden takings off which began with the murder of Drucel's former master, Don O'Banion, in November, 1924.

CHAMBER SPEAKER IS AUTHORITY ON ORGANIZATION WORK

Colvin B. Brown Has Consulted Many Chambers of Commerce About Work

Colvin B. Brown, of the chamber of commerce of the United States, who will speak at the annual meeting of the local chamber tonight, is perhaps the country's leading authority on organization activities.

Chambers of commerce, large and small, in every state in the Union, have consulted him on their problems and have been greatly benefited by his expert advice as to the most effective means of building up an efficient organization. In addition to traveling about the country, visiting and revisiting chambers of commerce, Mr. Brown is the manager of Organization Service, a department of the national chamber, dealing exclusively with organization problems.

Mr. Brown is a graduate of the school of experience. He was a member of the editorial staff of the Sacramento Bee, and later became the manager of the Stockton Chamber of Commerce. Following the San Francisco disaster, he was named to represent California in New York during the reconstruction period. President Wilson appointed him United States Commissioner to the Nicaraguan and Balcan States to invite the governments of those countries to participate in the San Francisco Exposition in 1915. His trip was very successful, resulting in many of those countries taking part in the exposition.

The chamber of commerce of the United States, with which Mr. Brown is connected, is the largest business organization of its kind in the world. It is the business man's representative and spokesman at the National Capitol. It aims to safeguard business against unwise economic legislation and at the same time to keep before Congress and the Government departments the viewpoint of business on things of economic and industrial importance to the country.

The national chamber was created fourteen years ago at the instance of President Taft and his administration to meet the need for a body which could obtain and present to the government the considered viewpoint of business on economic questions. Until that time business in the United States had not been represented in a central organization.

Today the Chamber of Commerce of the United States is recognized as the national spokesman for business. It speaks for 1,400 business organizations all over the country; these organizations have an underlying membership of more than 800,000 of the country's business men.

LIONS REHEARSE SONGS FOR STATE CONVENTION

A musical program was presented at the Lions club meeting Monday noon at the Conway hotel. Dr. Earl J. Baker led songs to be sung at the state convention at Wausau May 20 and 21 and two solos were sung by Richard Joyce, accompanied by Miss Virginia Baker.

A committee of three members will be appointed by the president to prepare for the state meet. The club voted to give $50 to the boy scouts association.

Giles Putnam, an officer of the New London Lions club, was a guest at the meeting.

ers staff, is one of the finest buildings in Washington. It was erected a few years ago on the site of what was once the home of Daniel Webster, and faces Lafayette Park, opposite the White House. This building is known as the home of American business and serves as a clearing house for all sorts of business information.

Joseph Koffend, Jr., national council representative of the chamber, will report on the work of the council as it effects the local organization.

TO SPEAK HERE

A graduate of the school of experience, Mr. Brown has become one of the country's leading authorities on organization activities. He will speak here tonight at the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce.

AN EASTER SECRET!

"I'll tell you a secret about my Easter clothes." It was an Appleton lady talking to one of her close friends.

"Last year I didn't see how I could possibly afford anything new. My old spring coat was soiled, and as for dresses, I felt that every time I came in the room people would say, 'There she is with the same old thing on again.'"

"Then I saw an ad for The Richmond Company. I sent my coat down to be dry cleaned. I had them dye a dress in the new spring colors, too.

"The whole thing cost only $4.50, and you should have seen the difference! I hardly recognized my own clothes—they looked so new. On Easter Sunday I felt that I was as well dressed as any woman in church."

You can do the same this year. Our dry cleaning process is thorough and odorless. It is safe—and you can be sure that your delicate garments are in the hands of experts.

Lay out your spring clothes and send them in early. Just phone 259 for our car.

MORE FORESTS ARE NEEDED BY STATE, SAYS KIWANIS HEAD

People Don't Realize Serious Condition of Timber Situation, Says Johns

Wisconsin has all the farm land that it needs but not enough forests, J. L. Johns, district governor of Kiwanis International, stated in a letter sent to four thousand Kiwanians of the northwest.

"The people of the state of Wisconsin and upper Michigan do not realize the serious condition of our timber," Mr. Johns continued. "It is my firm conviction that if the people are fully informed on this important matter before the April 5 election, they will vote to amend the constitution of the state so we may not only preserve our present forests but those now owning large tracts of cut-over land will be permitted to hold these lands under conditions which will permit a re-foresting project."

"If this plan is followed, these people may continue to own their land instead of letting it go back to the state for taxes each year, which is being done in many instances at the present time."

"What we need now is to take the uncultivated land, not fit for farming purposes and put it in condition for a re-forest project of benefit to future generations."

"The forests of Wisconsin are of value to the state not only on account of the products which can be harvested but also their tendency to increase rain fall which directly benefits adjacent farm area."

"If all the forests were gone from Wisconsin, it would become a desert like the interior of treeless China. The forests regulate stream flow, holding back the snows of winter and preventing spring floods. The forests are a refuge for wild life, they enhance the scenic beauties of the state and attract the summer tourists. If the forests of northern Wisconsin are all cut out and not replaced the state will lose millions of dollars of tourist revenue and hundreds of thousands of dollars of gasoline tax."

"We have been lulled to sleep on this question by the false argument that when the sawmills go other industries take their place. The real truth is that when sawmills move further into the woods they are replaced by wood working industries and paper mills. Appleton, Oshkosh, Wausau and Merrill are examples of this and when the timber is gone the wood working industries will gravitate to other regions."

LITTLE BUSINESS BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Legislature Introduces Bill to Abolish Teacher Training in High Schools

Madison—(P)—Wednesday night's session of Wisconsin legislature's lower house, will probably be little but a formality. With nearly a score of members granted definite leaves of absence and automatic leaves, attendance in the assembly is expected to be small.

Unlike the senate, the assembly has published no bulletin of committee hearings for the week, and with no meetings of committees the assemblymen do not have to "sit in" at their assigned reviewing tasks. Nor do they have to appear for or against measures up before some committee other than their own.

Assemblyman Arthur Hilt, representing Buffalo and Pepin-co is expected to present a bill asking abolition of high school teacher's training courses. He claims the bill, if made a law, would save the state $25,000 annually.

The high schools at Black River Falls, Chippewa Falls, Crandon, Darlington, Dodgeville, Ellsworth, Fenimore, Florence, Galesville, Grantsburg, Hayward, Jefferson, Mayville, Neillsville, New Richmond, Oconto Falls, Omro, Shawano, Spooner, Stoughton, Tomah, Washburn, Waukesha, Westfield, are all giving teachers training.

Appropriations to these schools for the training course range between $784 to the Florence high school to $1,467 to Waukesha.

If the bill is passed, it will mean that all students with teaching aspirations will be obliged to attend a county training school or a state normal school.

Although the calendar for Wednesday is of the usual length, it is billed for the most part, with such bills as those relating to procedure and jurisdiction in different courts, fees, for minor officers, senate bills to be ordered to a third reading and minor bills for passage. The presence of a full assembly will not be necessary for the work on these measures. It may be, however, that there will be an insufficient number to even transact this routine business.

Mothers Look for the Quaker's picture when buying oats.

That means richer flavor

WHEN children say they don't like oats, it's usually because rich Quaker flavor is missing.

Children who ordinarily don't take to oats are often quickly won to this important food, simply by giving them "Quakers."

The flavor is uniquely different; toasty, rich and creamy, Quaker Oats alone has it. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Thus protein, carbohydrates and vitamins and "bulk" combine in making Quaker Oats an excellently balanced ration.

TRY MELODY SYSTEM OF PIANO LESSONS

Class of Fifteen Pupils Are Getting Free Instruction in Music

Menasha—Free piano lessons for a class of 15 children have been started in Menasha high school building. In the class children from all the public schools in Menasha are represented.

The plan is called "The Melody Way." It has been especially prepared by W. Otto Messner, past president of the National Association of Music Supervisors and follows the class piano instruction method, fast becoming popular in musical education.

This method of teaching does not require a piano in the home. The idea is to make it possible for parents to determine whether their children have musical talents before they spend money for pianos or lessons. Children who have had any piano lessons are not eligible for the class.

The piano class meets every Thursday morning at 7:45 and continues for one hour.

Messner keyboards, key finders, chord finders, and the melody way book and manuscript are placed on the school desks. The children learn the rudiments before they are allowed to play the piano. This work is in charge of Miss Irene Schmit, head of the music department.

FIRST 1927 CALF CLUB IN OUTAGAMIE CO IS ORGANIZED

SCHOOL NO. 7 OPENS ACTIVITIES; OTHERS PLANNING FOR YEAR

Seymour Fair Association Offering Premiums for Best Purebred Exhibits

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer
Greenville—The first calf club in Outagamie this spring was organized about March 25 in district school No. 7, of which Miss Lela Ziemer is teacher. Mrs. Schoettler is the manager of the club. It is reported that several rural schools near Seymour are favoring the organization of purebred animal clubs, certified grain clubs and other clubs, the membership to be composed of pupils of these schools.

The Seymour Fair association is offering premiums for the best samples of corn exhibited by boys or girls under 19 years, but the planting, cultivating and selecting of ears must be done by persons entering the contest.

The Seymour Fair association is also offering premiums for the best exhibits of purebred calves of any breed to successful calf club members. Other premiums are offered to poultry clubs, grain and seed clubs, fruit clubs, pig clubs and sheep clubs. But last year, there were no boys' or girls' clubs in the county to try for any of these premiums.

SHOULD HAVE MANY
In the opinion of number of farmers, each township should have a boys' and girls' club either calf club, pig club, grain club or fruit club.

In Brown-co last year, 21 boys' and girls' clubs were organized with a membership of 119 boys and girls. These clubs consisted of 5 pig clubs, with 11 members, 9 calf clubs, with 48 members and 7 poultry clubs with 60 members. During the summer, the club members held meetings each month.

At the Northeastern Wisconsin fair, these club members were guests of the fair association during the week of the fair. Sleeping quarters were provided and three meals a day given these members. A charge of $1.50 a member was made for the privilege of camping at the fair. Eighty boys and girls took advantage of this camp and showed their calves, pigs and poultry at the fair. Reid Murray, who judged the calves and who judged at the state fair the day before, stated that the first and second prize calves exhibited in the Holstein Calf club were better than the calves he judged at Milwaukee.

HOLD JUDGING CONTEST
A livestock judging contest was conducted at the fair in which practically all the club members participated. The winner in this contest received $5, second prize $4.50, third prize $4 and so on down the line. The Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association also gave prizes. Splendid cooperation was received from the county superintendent's office and from the teachers of the country schools making the club work of pupils a success.

Last year, Brown-co took first prize in a state-wide ton litter hog contest and first, second, third and fourth prizes in state wide contest in the production of the biggest yields of certified corn.

There are farmers in Brown-co who believe that the quickest and most positive way to get rid of scrub cattle, scrub hogs, scrub poultry and poor fruit, poor vegetables and grain is through the organization of clubs of boys and girls and the fostering of these clubs by existing county-wide organizations.

There are numbers of breeders and growers and business in Outagamie-co who believe the same thing, but there is not strong enough to spur them to action in the organization of boys' and girls' clubs in rural communities.

HEAVY LOG MUST WAIT FOR HEAVIER SNOW-FALL

George Schuh, route 4 cut down a big poplar in front of his residence three weeks ago and from it cut a saw log 3 feet in diameter and 10 feet in length. As the log was too heavy to load in a wagon, conveniently, he trusted in the weatherman to supply snow enough to permit the hauling of log to the saw mill on a sled.

Mr. Schuh waited two weeks for the weather man to get busy and in fact a milder fall came that impeded him to load the log on his sled and to start for the saw mill. As the sleighing was poor and the load more than the team could handle under the road conditions, Mr. Schuh did not go far before he decided to dump the log on the roadside and wait for the weather man to do a better job.

FORTY FARMERS ATTEND PRUNING DEMONSTRATION

Little Rapids—The pruning demonstration conducted on the farm of Frank Woodard, Thursday afternoon by C. L. Kuehner, agricultural college, and J. N. Kavanaugh, county agent of Brown-co, was attended by 40 farmers and farm boys. After the men and boys learned the purpose of pruning fruit trees and the best methods of doing it they got considerable practice under the direction of the demonstrators.

ASSOCIATION SHIPS TWO CARLOADS OF LIVESTOCK

Center Valley—The Center Valley Cooperative Shipping association shipped two carloads of livestock last Wednesday and expects to get a carload and a car of bran and middlings this week. Farmers have been short of feed this winter and have been ordering corn, bran middlings, oil meal, cotton seed meal and oil feed to unusual quantities. They will soon order a couple of cars of fertilizer, 10,000 pounds of binder twine and four cars of grain. They unloaded a car of grain last week. This as-

She Deserts Kitchen To Care For Her Dad's Pigs

MISS EMILY WINTER AND SOME OF HER SPECIAL CHARGES ON THE FARM OF HER FATHER, R. W. WINTER OF GREENVILLE. MR. WINTER ATTRIBUTES A LARGE MEASURE OF HIS SUCCESS AS A BREEDER OF PUREBRED DUCO HOGS TO HIS DAUGHTER'S INTEREST AND EFFORTS TO CARE FOR THE ANIMALS.

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer
Greenville—Emily Winter, is the 14-year-old daughter of R. W. Winter, a successful breeder of purebred Duroc hogs the past eight years. A large part of his success, he declared, is due to the skillful care given by Miss Winter to each baby pig, to all litters, to the brood sows before and after, and to the pigs after they are weaned. Mr. Winter was not missing Durocs long before Emily deserted the kitchen and began tending her father and soon helping feed and otherwise care for the pigs. She soon became intensely interested and could tell at a glance whether a pig was doing its best or only marking time as a result of his rations, environment and treatment. If there was a chance for improvement, she soon knew it. She can pick out the good, better and best pigs in a drove with the accuracy of a judge at a county fair.

As a result of her interest in his pigs and her success in rearing them, Mr. Winter speaks of his daughter as "my herdman." Miss Winter is perhaps the only girl in the state who has charge of a large drove of purebred hogs. She says of her work, "I like taking care of our hogs much better than washing dishes and sweeping. Pigs are very interesting."

Miss Winter takes care of 82 hogs, consisting of 8 brood sows, 27 porkers, and 47 little pigs. The litters run from seven to eight pigs, which are weaned after six weeks and are then fed skim milk with middlings, ground barley, oat meal, some whole corn, oil meal, salt and tankage.

In the summer, the hogs are pastured on alfalfa and mixed red and alsike clovers, and fattening hogs are fed, in addition, ground barley and corn meal in a self-feeder and skim milk thickened with ground feed.

Mr. Winter says the past two years were very good hog years and he expects this year to be equally good. During those two years he sold a large number of hogs to be used for breeding purposes and the demand is continuing strong while the price of pork is fairly satisfactory.

Brusewitz And Son Herd And Cow High For March

Violet, a 6-year-old purebred Guernsey owned by A. G. Brusewitz and Son, was the highest producer for March in the Cicero-Black Creek Cow Testing association, according to the monthly report of Stuart Lambie, of official tester. This animal produced 71.8 pounds of butterfat from 1,497 pounds of milk, testing 4.8 per cent.

A 5-year-old grade Guernsey of the Albert G. Brusewitz herd was the second highest producer, yielding 60.9 pounds of butterfat from 1,172 pounds of milk, testing 5.2 per cent. The third highest cow in the association produced 58.6 pounds of butterfat and 1,150 pounds of milk, with a test of 5.1 per cent.

The A. G. Brusewitz and Son herd of ten purebred and grade Guernseys averaged 594 pounds of milk, testing 4.42 per cent, or 44 pounds of butterfat; 12 cows in the August Grunwald herd, also grade and purebred Guernseys, were second highest, producing an average of 578 pounds of milk, testing 4.2 per cent, or 41.3 pounds of butterfat; and 13 Guernseys and Jerseys of the Delmar Buttes herd produced 693 pounds of milk per cow, testing 4.6 per cent, or an average of 31.9 pounds of butterfat.

Following are records of cows producing 40 pounds or more of butterfat during the month.

GOOD DEMAND FOR BUTTER LAST WEEK, CHEESE TRADE SLOW

Hog Prices Decline from 35 to 60 Cents; Heavy Steers Show Advance

Madison—(P)—The market situation of the past week, as seen by the state department of markets, was:

Butter "satisfactory"; cheese "trading slow"; hogs "declined"; cattle "steer advanced" and sheep "advanced."

The market review follows:

"The butter market were generally satisfactory during the past week. Demand was good and supplies were limited. Several fractional advances took place and a close clearance was reported on all grades. However, toward the middle of the week the market began to weaken as the result of a feeling against advancing prices. Supplies were still very light but dealers felt that prices were relatively too high for this season of the year. Buyers, however, operate cautiously and an indifferent demand resulted in a fractional decline. Centralized market demand was fair through the week but slow at the close. Butter prices are 10 cents higher than last year at this time.

"Cheese trade was slow through the week and confined to small lots. Deliveries were delayed as a result of impassable roads in several sections. It is reported that the state of American cheese at Wisconsin warehouses, from the first of the year to March 19, inclusive, are 5,304,124 pounds less than for the corresponding period in 1926. Present climatic conditions cannot be considered favorable towards greater production. Cheese prices are about cents higher than last year at this time.

HOG PRICES LOWER
"As a result of an increase in receipts and a lower dressed meat trade, hog prices declined 50 to 60 cents by mid-week and closed with a net loss of 35 to 50 cents. The market was still further weakened as a result of a decrease in shipping demand. It is reported that large packers purchased liberally on declines but stayed out of the market when advances were registered. Hog prices are $1.30 lower than last year at this time.

"Heavy steers continued to advance during the past week registering a net gain of 15 to 25 cents as compared with the previous week. The market on light and medium weight steers was much less favorable because of increased supplies. Light cattle values, however, continued relatively high. Cattle prices are $1.30 higher than last year at this time.

An active shipping demand, a higher dressed trade and somewhat small receipts caused an increase in values of all classes of sheep and lambs. At the close of the week the fat lamb market was 50 to 75 cents higher than a week ago. Sheep prices are from $2.50 to $3 higher than last year at this time.

Coincident with the release of the market report, Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, gave out with following advice to buyers and shippers of hay:

ASSURE GOOD HAY
"Hundreds of carloads of hay, bought annually by dairymen and other buyers in this state, are not giving satisfaction. Of this, the commission and the federal government, through the Wisconsin department of markets, have jointly provided the machinery through which buyers may order hay and be assured of getting exactly the quality which they contracted for.

"To get the benefit of this plan, the buyers should order the hay on the basis of quality, that is, No. 1, 2 or 3 government grades of the variety that is wanted. When the hay arrives at destination and turns out to be what was ordered, the contract is naturally closed, but if the buyer feels that the quality is not what was ordered, he can ask for inspection which will be furnished within a reasonable time at a fee of $2.50 per car. If the buyer is correct in his estimate of the quality of the hay shipment and the inspector so reports, the seller is compelled to make a readjustment but if the buyer is wrong then he has no recourse and must pay for the hay on the basis of the contract.

"The important thing from the buyer's standpoint is to purchase the hay on the basis of government grades. Generally speaking No. 1 Alfalfa and No. 2 Alfalfa (leafiness good enough for No. 1) are early cut and sufficiently well cured to make hay of excellent feeding value. No. 2 Alfalfa may lack the natural green color, but if it has the good feeding value, No. 2 Timothy is the standard commercial hay for that kind."

HAS SHINGLING BEE
Max Springstroh, route 5, had a bee on his farm last Saturday to shingle his residence, that began and completed the job.

ZULEGER HAS AUCTION
Black Creek—Joseph Zuleger, route 5, had an auction on his farm Thursday, March 31. Mr. Zuleger expects to continue making his home there but will discontinue farming.

SELL TWENTY HORSES
Black Creek—Twenty horses were sold at the horse auction sale last Wednesday at the Dewart farm in the village. Five horses were not sold.

BUILDS NEW PORCH
Black Creek—William Timm is having a new porch built on his farm home.

LILLIE IMPROVES PLACE
Henry C. Lillie, route 4, is shingling his house and laying drain tile from his barnyard and from the basement of his house to the ditch in the highway. The drain from the basement of the house will serve a double purpose as soon as Mr. Lillie installs a water works system in his house.

JOHN TAEGE TO MOVE HEDGE AT ROADSIDE

John Taege, route 4, intends soon to move the hedge between his residence and the highway back to a line parallel with the highway and in the rear of his dwelling. He will make this change because the hedge in its present location will soon cut off the vision of the highway from the residence. He will soon move his combined corn cribs and tool shed from its present location to a site nearer his hog pen and restructure the structure. The shingles on the corn cribs, which Mr. Taege bought at 55 cents a thousand, have done excellent service the past 25 years. He expects that the new roof will cost considerably more than the old roof and is positive that the new roof will not last as long as did the old one.

CONDITION OF GRAVEL, DIRT ROADS IMPROVING

The country dirt and gravel roads are rapidly improving under favorable weather conditions, and the repairs that are being made on them by patrol men and farmers. The farmers are filling the sink holes in the roads with gravel and stones and the patrolmen are filling the ruts, improving the drainage and smoothing the surface with road scrapers.

Some farmers who live on the side roads are complaining about the prevailing system of road construction that compels them to pay as much for the construction of a concrete road as the farmers who live on it and denies them the privilege of using it a large part of the year because they a few rods or more from it.

TAEGE CHAMPIONS CAUSE OF ALFALFA

Superiority Over All Other Kinds of Hay Warrants Difficulty in Growing

John Taege, route 4, says that a number of farmers in the county have declared in his presence that because they have repeatedly failed to get good stands of alfalfa, especially on ridges and low spots in their fields, they have given up trying to raise alfalfa and have returned to raising the old kinds of hay. As Mr. Taege knows the superiority of alfalfa over all other kinds of hay and has never failed to get a good stand of alfalfa, he considers this retrograde movement of farmers a calamity in a county devoted to dairying.

He says that alfalfa seeding may freeze out on high ridges or down out in low spots where water stands for long periods of time, but in consideration of the value of alfalfa hay, these are not sufficient reasons for giving up alfalfa and going back to the raising of wild grass and timothy for hay, as the latter have very little value as feed for dairy cattle or for hogs.

Mr. Taege believes that the soil in which alfalfa fails must be deficient in some kind of necessary fertilizer, the crop rotation must be defective or the selection and treatment of seed must not be up to the usual standards or something must be wrong with the seeding or with the use of stands of new seeding in the fall.

In uncertain spots in his fields as low places and ridges, Mr. Taege mixes timothy and clover seed with his alfalfa seed and sows this mix-

HORSE PULLING CONTEST TO FEATURE NEXT FAIR

Seymour—Fair and Driving Park association has entered into a contract with the state which will result in the featuring of a horse pulling contest at the Seymour Fair next fall, according to George F. Fiedler, secretary of the fair association. The same kind of contest was held at the fair last fall and proved very popular. Horse pulling contests are being staged at the fairs throughout Canada and the United States, according to Mr. Fiedler, and Canada won the contest two years ago but lost it a year ago to Iowa. The horse men in Outagamie-co and vicinity will do their best to win it next fall.

REMODELS HOME
Seymour—Herman Sievert is remodeling his farm house. He has already torn down two wings and has the basement of the new part completed. As soon as the weather is favorable, the carpenters are to begin their work.

RESHINGLES BARN
Mathew Miller, route 4 recently finished reshingling his barn and will soon begin regular spring repairing of fences on his farm.

If the alfalfa is thin in spots it is protected by the other grasses until it gets a foothold and if it fails, he gets a crop of the poorer kinds of hay.

Mr. Taege advises those farmers who fail in raising alfalfa to find out the cause of failure and to remove it rather than to give up trying to raise the crop.

SONS RENT FARMS
Black Creek—George Wehling, route 1, has rented his two farms to his two sons, Gilbert and Reno Wehling.

SHIP CAR OF CATTLE
Black Creek—J. Krohngraff and A. M. Helden of Geneva, shipped a carload of cows from Center Valley last Thursday.

How To Play Bridge

By Milton C. Work

The pointed for today is: With Jack-x in Dummy and Ace-x or Ace-x in Closed Hand, play Jack from Dummy on a small card led against a No-Trump contract.

As an illustration of the above pointer, a hand given yesterday is repeated:

It was explained yesterday that South would secure a No-Trump contract and that West would lead the Three of Clubs. The Jack should be played from Dummy because it is the only chance to get two tricks in the Club suit; it will pick up an extra trick if the lead be from King-Queen. When the Jack of Clubs wins the first trick, the Declarer can see that to make game he needs eight more tricks; that he has five sure—two Hearts and one in each of the other suits—with a chance to obtain four more, two in each of the Reds. In order to win the three Diamonds, it will be necessary to find the Ace in the East hand, and also to lead a Diamond twice from the Dummy; but although the Heart finesse is in the Dummy, the first Heart lead can be made from either hand. It is advisable to start with a Diamond from Dummy. East probably will not play his Ace and, if South win trick 2, a Diamond should not be led from the Closed Hand; Dummy should be put in to lead another Diamond. Trick 3, Ace of Hearts from Closed Hand. Jack finesse taken in Dummy; trick 5, another Diamond from Dummy. It is just as important to lead twice toward a King-Queen (i. e., to lead from the other hand) as it is to lead twice toward an Ace-Queen-Jack. The rest of the play would be easy: Declarer would make four-odd.

Tomorrow we will consider Jacks in Dummy and Ace-Kings in Closed Hand.

STAGE And SCREEN

RESERVE APRIL 7 FOR—

"Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" is bound to be a success. Everyone has read Anita Loos' little book and everyone is going to want to see the play, which is announced for Fischer's Appleton Theatre one night only, Thursday April 7.

It is said that all the most amusing episodes in the education of Lorelei are incorporated in the play. And none of the important characters have been left out. Beside Lorelei, the golden-haired, one will find Dorothy, her conspiring assistant. Of course, there is the glibbie Sir Francis Beekman and his mercenary wife, Lady Beekman; Henry Spofford, the young Philadelphia reformer; his mother and her guardian, Miss Chapman; Gus Bliman, the Chicago button king, who has sent Lorelei abroad to be "educated"; and the two comical French attorneys, Robert and Louis Broussard.

These ten roles—there are 31 characters in the play—will be played by Joan Marion, Harry Reed, Herbert Standing, Ada Sinclair, William Courten, Lois Arnold, Josephine Morse, Jay Reed, Edouard La Roche and Martin Wolfson.

REGINALD DENNY IS FUNNIEST IN "CHEERFUL FRAUD"

If you were a real English "Bird" and you wanted to meet a girl and couldn't do it unless you posed as someone else—

And you attended a house party under false colors and then discovered that someone else had arrived using your title—

If you proposed to the lady of your heart and then found that a woman claiming to be your wife had arrived—That would seem to be about enough trouble and excitement for one evening, wouldn't it?

But that ain't half of what happens to Reginald Denny in "The Cheerful Fraud," the hilarious universal farce comedy which comes tomorrow night to Fischer's theatre.

That "The Cheerful Fraud" is the best thing Denny has done since "What Happened to Jones" is the consensus of opinion of those who witnessed the picture last night.

It is comedy of a new type, with clever situations, fast moving comedy and an unexpected turning of plot at entirely unsuspected moments, and it leaves nothing to be desired in the way of entertainment.

Gertrude Olmstead, who played opposite the face comedy star in "California Straight Ahead" again has the feminine lead, Otis Harlan, Gertrude Astor, Emily Fitzroy, Charles Gerrard and others are in prominent supporting roles.

"The Cheerful Fraud" was directed by William A. Selter, the brilliant young director who has done such splendid work on Denny's last five productions.

JUNGLE CREATURES IN CIRCUS SCENES OF "MONKEY TALKS"

The Selig collection of wild animals, which is probably one of the largest in the entire world, is housed in the world famous Selig Zoo in Los Angeles. The whole collection was utilized by Director Raoul Walsh in filming the pictorial version of Rene Krauchols' sensational mystery play, "The Monkey Talks" which comes to the New Bijou Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Lions, tigers, jaguars, chimpanzees, gorillas, wild cats, leopards, elephants, bears, pheasants, reptiles, camels, various varieties of monkeys, bears and hundreds of other animals all play a bit in the development of the story. Olive Borden is cast in the leading role with Jacques Lerner, noted animal impersonator in the role of the talking monkey. Others in the cast are June Winton, Malcolm Waite, Raymond Hitchcock, Don Alvarado and August Tollaire.

"The Hoodooed Coon", Elm Tree School, Spencer Road, Thurs., April 7.

ORDER RAILROADS TO INSTALL SAFETY SWITCH

Madison—(AP)—Twelve railroads of the state have been ordered by the state railroad commission to install a certain type of lock switch on their main lines.

In a hearing originated by the commission, a dozen roads operating in Wisconsin were called in to discuss guards or blocks for frogs or guard rails and safety clamps on main line switches. After the hearing a questionnaire was sent to the railroads, asking information on the number of miles of tracks, number of main line switches forms of protection of these switches and other information pertinent to the subject.

After reviewing the results of the questionnaire, the commission declared that "all railroads operating in Wisconsin as common carriers shall equip all main line switches with a safety clamp "as described in a blueprint that accompanies the order and shall keep the same locked except when used for switching."

RIPARIAN OWNERS ON "LITTLE" LAKE COMPLAIN OF FLOOD

River Unable to Carry Away Vast Volume of Water When Menasha Gates Are Open

Urgent representations have been made to the United States government by riparian owners on Little Lake Buttes des Morts against high water which this spring covered the road from Highway 151 to Stroebe's island under three feet of water and flooded hundreds of acres of land along the shores of the lake. Water backed up in Mud creek to such an extent that it flooded a considerable portion of the ravine in Buttes des Morts golf course, it was said.

Unskillful handling of the gates in the dams at Menasha are blamed for much of the high water. It is said that 13 of the 18 gates in the Menasha dam recently were opened permitting a vast quantity of water to flow down river but only three of the five gates in the Appleton dam were opened, with the result that water backed up in the river and lake, overflowing the banks and flooding farm land and residence property.

RIVER IS NARROWER
Complaints to the government state that when the Fox river was dredged near Alicia park the sand was dumped along the side of the river, narrowing the channel by about 100 feet and the flow of the water is impeded, again forcing it to back up in the lake.

Some relief has been accorded riparian owners on the lake since the first complaint was made a few days ago but the water on Monday still was more than a foot deep across some portions of the road leading to Stroebe's resort.

An effort is being made to secure an order from the government which will result in more careful handling of the Menasha gates and to secure reinstallation of a gauge on the little lake so that the level can be watched. It was said that up until a few years ago a gauge near Alicia park enabled the government to accurately measure the level of the little lake but this gauge was taken away following an agreement with riparians on the Fox river and upper fox to maintain the level of Lake Winnebago below 15 inches above the crest of the Menasha dam. Riparians on the little lake believe this level can be maintained at the same time preventing good conditions below the dams if the gates in Menasha and Appleton are carefully handled.

Indications that no band ever has been assembled in Wisconsin compares with the organization that will represent the Badger department of the American Legion at the national convention in Paris this fall are contained in the applications for membership in the band being received daily by H. L. Plummer, manager. Already 40 applications, including the names of some of the greatest musicians in the country, have been received by Mr. Plummer. All applicants are master musicians.

Included in the list is the director of the First United States Cavalry Band during the war, who has been a member of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra since that time; a member of the United States Navy band; two members of the Beaver Dam legion band; winner of several national prizes, and a member of the Holton-Likhorn band, the "own band of the Holton Instrument Co. Others include James E. "Bunny Jim" Miller, known as the world's greatest trombone player, who has toured Europe several times as a soloist, a man who played with the University of Wisconsin band on the Panama-Pacific exposition, and members of the Wisconsin theatre orchestra at Milwaukee.

Feet Are as Varied as Faces

No. 10

This is one of a series of twenty illustrated advertisements explaining the difference between the many types of feet, and suggesting the proper foot-wear for each.

When you remove an old shoe, take a look from behind and note in what way the shoe is twisted out of shape.

If the garter sags inward and the inner edge of the sole is worn down more than the outer side, or if the shank is pressed down so that you are walking on the shank, it indicates a marked weakness in the ankle muscles.

They have become stretched, are flabby and refuse to hold the foot in a normal position. The foot topples over and is drawn from the socket formed by the ends of the tibia and fibula bones. The arch is flattened and the whole foot is out of harmony.

This is a common defect noticed in the human foot today, but it can be remedied, or considerable relief afforded by careful shoe fitting.

Novelty salespeople have studied; they know how to fit shoes so that you may enjoy complete comfort and resulting better general health.

Game Laws In Canada Are Few, But They're Enforced

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

And out of the north there came a man, a real man, mammoth in stature and sporting a dense crop of whiskers such as have not often been seen since the days of Samson. He was a remarkable character, one whose very appearance among men commanded instant attention. The only unpretentious thing about this man was his name—it was Bookbinder. We dubbed him "Moses", and "Moses" he is known by all along the trail he followed in the states.

In the wild Saskatoon country whence this remarkable man came, the thermometer registered 40 degrees below zero at the time of his departure for the states. When he arrived here we were suffering the pangs of what we called severe winter weather. It was 10 degrees below, but "Moses" removed his fur coat and donned lighter raiment in order to meet our "mild" climate.

From the land of real lakes and streams he came, from the country of forests, fish and game; and, above all, from a country where the laws are sacred. He told us of the moose and the musky; of the beaver and the bass. He told us of lakes from which one haul of valuable whitefish equals our entire winter's catch. There the waters are pure. The lakes are fed by ice cold springs and rivers emanating from a land of eternal ice and snow, just as they were fed ages ago. There is no pollution to contend with up the Saskatoon. The fish grow to monstrous size and their flesh is hard, just as that of our fish would be if nature could have her way.

He told us how the great moose, partly immersed in the lily beds along the shore lazily watch the fishermen at work. They know no fear because there the laws are enforced, and yet the 30 foot stride of that wonderful animal denotes his innate power, his ability to take care of himself when necessary.

And every vicious strike of a musky or Northern pike proves at once to the fisherman the utmost perfection of the species. There is no lack of fighting qualities, no rhytidosis, no evidence whatever of the fungus so common to the struggling fish of our northern waters. The dynamic action of the seven and eight pound fontinalis of the Upper Steele river are proof enough of what an unhampered nature will do for our wild life.

This man of the north knew conditions here as well as those of his own country. He knew that we have many laws, faintly enforced, and few fish; and that in the untrammeled open spaces of the Saskatoon they have comparatively few restrictions rigidly enforced, and a plenty of fish and game. They are neither dominated by a sickly bunch of politicians, nor by an influential Mammon. They breed real men up there, a class reared from infancy to be anti-thetic to law violation, and yet, above all, they maintain the Royal Mounted police from whom no offender ever escapes. And down here, in our inflated wisdom, we criticize the crown.

INDIANS HAVE BURYING GROUND FOR OLD BEDS

Fort Washakie, Wyo.—(AP)—Modern dished with weird results in the Wind River burial ground near here. Customs and ancient beliefs have The old idea that a Shoshone Indian should have his personal effects buried with him was workable in the days when he slept on a buffalo robe, but these modern beds present a problem which is generally solved by leaving the bed above ground. The burial place was established 43 years ago by Rev. John Roberts adjoining his log mission, which still stands. At that time the funeral ceremony consisted of placing the body of the deceased on the back of a pony which was led, followed by the cortege, up long trails to a mountain top. There burial was made in the crevices of a rocky point. A Shoshone legend says the tribe is descended from a big coyote. When the Creator first spoke to the coyote, it is said, the animal replied in an impudent, insolent manner and because of this the Creator told him his descendants would die. Thus death was brought into the world. The Shoshone, however, believes in a life hereafter. He has great respect for the chickadee, it having been told through generations that this bird discovered the world.

SPRAYED RUBBER WEB CORD FLAT BAND METHOD
Q. Why does Sprayed Rubber give so much more to the car owner?
A. Sprayed Rubber gives more to the car owner because it gives him longer wearing tires.

It is stronger, more uniform, purer. It is made from a specially fine rubber latex. It is produced by a new and exact mechanical method—and without the use of either smoke or acid.

The United States Rubber Company invented this method specifically to make better tires. Just as they established the United States Rubber Plantations in 1909 to improve the quality of their rubber supply.

By creating finer rubber, new methods of producing the rubber and of building it into tires, this Company is creating better tires all along the line.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE GARRETT FOLSON is stabbed to death while swimming at Ocean Town, N. J.

Folson's bathing companions had been ROGER NEVILLE, a business partner; MRS. HELEN BARNABY and CARMELITA VALDON.

"ANASTASIA FOLSON, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is established that the death weapon was a pichau, an Oriental knife, and that it and its scabbard had been purchased on the boardwalk.

It is learned that one CROYDON SEARS is a fanatic of curious weapons. He admits buying two knives but not the pichau. Anastasia engages TITUS RIGGS, an architect, to work on the case. DAN PELTON, the dead man's nephew, arrives and is intrigued by some curious French dolls in Folson's room.

Croydon Sears' initials are discovered in a notebook of Folson's and Pelton thinks his uncle had been doing some blackmailing. ROBIN SEARS, Croydon's son, is worried now that suspicion is resting on his father. RIGGS tells him he has purchased a third dagger.

The elder Sears sends for FLEMING STONE, famous detective. Anastasia, questioning MADELINE BARRON, wife of NED BARRON, upsets her and Madeline goes to her room to break down and sob.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVI

"Dearest," and Angel Fair smoothed the short, ruffled locks. "don't mind that horrid woman. I don't wonder she gets on your nerves. Forget her; she isn't worth worrying about."

"I know it," Madeline Barron said, raising her head a little. "I know it—but oh, Angel, I wish she'd go away from here—or else that w-w-we could."

"She won't go—you couldn't expect that. But we can all go. Ned will say yes to that in a minute if you ask him."

"I know it—bless his dear old darling heart. But he loves it here. Oh, Angel, I am so miserable."

"Why, Maddy, dear," and the girl was truly puzzled, "what is it? You can't be so deeply affected by that man's death—a stranger to you—"

"I know. No, it isn't that—oh, never mind, Angel. Don't let's discuss it. Just help me pull myself together and get into shape."

Glad at this opportunity to help Angel brushed her friend's hair and brought her makeup box and a fresh handkerchief and soon a transformation had been wrought that resulted in a very lovely and serene Mrs. Ned Barron who went downstairs again ready for her luncheon.

Dan Pelton crossed the room and paused at the table where Carmelita and Mrs. Barnaby sat with Roger Neville.

"Golf today?" he inquired, for he had rather decidedly attached himself to the train of the beautiful Carmelita.

"Yes, if you like," she smiled at him, and then invited him to sit with them for luncheon.

"I will, gladly," he said, taking the fourth chair. "My adored aunt has come off with friends and I'm a wail and a stray."

Even as he seated himself he saw Madeline Barron enter the dining room and join her own group of friends.

"Yes, she is lovely," said Carmelita, intercepting his glance. "but you're not to concentrate on her. We're here."

"Very much here," insisted the Duchess gaily. "It's a strange thing, as soon as a man is in the company of two of the most beautiful women in the place, his attention immediately wanders to some other woman."

"For an instant only," and Pelton laughed as he devoted himself to his companions.

It was not long before the talk drifted to the Folson case.

"But perhaps the subject bores or pains you, Duchess," Dan said, as he and Neville began to discuss it.

"No," she returned, smiling faintly. "not if you don't keep it up too long."

"Just a minute. You see, Mr. Neville, it's this way. The police people and, well, some others are beginning to whisper the name of Croydon Sears in connection with the taking off of my uncle. Oh, I know that's putting it rather badly, but, like my revered aunt, I usually call a spade a spade. Or, at least, some other folks are doing so. Now, Mr. RIGGS tells me that you assured him that so far as you know Sears had no dealings with my uncle, save one or two of the merest business transactions, that could by no possibility have had any reason to cause illfeeling between the two men."

"You are putting the statement a trifle too strong, Mr. Pelton, but I believe Mr. RIGGS and I did have a slight conversation on the subject of C. R. S."

"Didn't you give the assurance I spoke of?"

"Not assurance, no. How could I? There may have been all sorts of connections between those two men of which I knew nothing."

"Aren't you Uncle Gerry's partner?"

"In some of his business pursuits, yes. In others, no. Mr. Folson was a man of many lines of activity."

"So I am finding out," Dan Pelton looked gravely serious. "And I'm asking you slowly, as man to man, if you did know of any—I will be plain—of any secret shared by my uncle and Mr. Sears that might at any time in their lives have caused unfriendliness between them?"

"It's palpably evident," Roger Neville said slowly, "that you have some how learned that your late uncle did share secrets with some of his—clients—that might in certain circumstances cause unfriendliness—"

"Or more."

"Or more. Such things are not entirely unknown in lawyers' relationships, but it is often unwise to place too much stress on them. I am quite sure Mr. Sears could have had no secret, shared by Mr. Folson, that would or possibly could have brought about the tragedy that took place."

"An can't be sure of that, Roger," Carmelita Valdon exclaimed. "No one can say for sure who did or didn't, or could or couldn't be implicated in that affair."

"Of course not," said the Duchess vaguely, for she had a sudden premonition that she was being left out of the conversation. "Why, for all these men know, you or I might have killed the man, Carmy."

"Don't talk rot!" Carmelita cried with a reproving glare at her friend.

"Tisn't rot," the Duchess returned placidly. "At least it may be for me, for I'm sure I couldn't let go of the rope even with one hand to make that stab. But you could, Carmy, you're so brave in the water!"

Carmelita gave the speaker a sudden glance of withering anger, and then as suddenly broke into a smile.

"You're too absurd, Helen!" she said. "I am brave enough for anything, but I couldn't stab a man in the ocean without being seen by those near me—" if they were all as lynx-eyed as you, dear. You can swear I didn't do it, can't you?"

"Oh, Lord, honey, I didn't mean you did it, I only meant—"

"You haven't the faintest idea what you meant," and Dan Pelton laughed at the bewildered look on the Duchess' round pink face. "Well, all I'm asking of you, Neville, is whether you can suggest a motive for Croydon Sears, or whether you can't?"

"I can't," said Roger Neville shortly, but his harassed eyes seemed to belie the frankness of his assertion.

"I suppose you know it's your duty to tell anything you can."

"Yes, but it's not my duty to surmise or imagine. I do know that Folson had certain dealings or business with Sears that neither side wanted to make public, and that's all I can say about it."

"You'll say more if the authorities ask you."

"They haven't asked yet," said Roger Neville.

Lacking the initiative that had led the RIGGS to investigate for himself the possibilities or probabilities of Sears' connection with the Folson case, Dan Pelton put the matter from his mind and devoted his afternoon to golf.

He was not on the deck when a tall, dark-eyed man appeared there and immediately made himself at home in a certain pleasant corner, which Robin Sears had held against other would-be occupants for this very purpose.

Secluded corners of the deck of the Hotel Majusca were greatly liked by individuals or small groups who wished to be alone, and when at last Croydon Sears and his guest arrived, Helen in Sears was relieved, for he had been the target for envious glances from those who considered him selfishly inclined.

He had met Stone before, though not recently, and he looked with interest at the grave-faced, quietly moving

FRATERNAL DAY TO BE HELD IN APRIL

Gustave Keller, Sr., is Chairman of Committee in Charge of Program

A fraternal day program for Appleton organizations will be planned soon by the committee in charge of the event which will be held in April, Gustave Keller, Sr., chairman of the group announced Saturday. Mrs. Clyde Caver is secretary.

Fraternal day was held for the first time in 1926 under the auspices of the National Fraternal congress and its success warranted a continuance of the program this year. Its purpose is to bring before the people the value and need of fraternal organizations and to bring a unity of aim and work among the groups.

Representatives from every fraternal organization in the city will be invited to the program. It is hoped to instill the same feeling of cooperation among the individual members and groups as there exists among the leaders of the national organizations in the National Fraternal congress. One of the aims of fraternal day is to show the people how they make their organizations of real value and need by doing community service for which their organizations are fitted.

A public program at Lawrence Me-man, whose eyes, however, darted about everywhere and took in everything.

(To Be Continued)

In the next chapter Croydon Sears explains something of the relations between him and Garrett Folson.

YANKEES, GIANTS CONTINUE HEAVY BATTING RAMPAGES

Rog Hornsby Leads Macs With Perfect Average In Victory Over Washington

Babe Ruth Continues to Star at Bat, in Field as Yanks Beat Cards

A lightning of heat that comes with the knock of smacking the baseball right on the seams reigned Tuesday in the barnstorming camps of New York's ball clubs.

Led by Rogers Hornsby who came out of a batting slump to hit four times and walk once in five chances, the Giant batsman at Birmingham made four hits in beating the Washington Senators, 10 to 3 Monday.

The Yankees at Atlanta faced five Cardinal pitchers in hammering out a 3 to 1 victory. It set the Yanks on even terms in their series with the champions.

Babe Ruth hit two long doubles that might have gone as homers on a field less hilly, and twice he cut out runners at the plate with arrowy paws from right field.

The going was a bit tougher for Uncle Robbie's hopefuls, in their 6-5 win over Mobile's Bears in their Alabama ballclub.

The St. Louis Browns at Ft. Worth had one chance Tuesday to redeem themselves from Monday's beating by the minor leaguers, 4-0.

Manager Moriarty of the Detroit Tigers has begun cutting down his big squad preparatory to getting the team down to the major league limit. Six recruits were released Monday and the team will be further reduced within a few days.

The Phillies and Athletics who are engaged in a pre-season series for the city baseball championship appear immune to the weather.

Rain and icy blasts have been encountered since the series started Saturday.

The Athletics have an opportunity to clinch the 5 game series Tuesday. They won the two games played by close margins. Monday's score was 2 to 1 in 11 innings. Ty Cobb's hitting and base running were big factors in the victory. Joe Harris, veteran utility player, left the Pittsburgh Pirates at Beaumont, Tex., Monday for his home at Franklin, Pa., where he will receive treatment for neuritis. He plans to rejoin the club, April 12. The Pirates were scheduled to play at Waco Tuesday after having beaten Beaumont, 15-11.

The final week of baseball training before the big show opens finds the managers of both the Chicago pennant chasers still experimenting with one position on the team. Manager Ray Schalk has two outfielders to fill the vacancy created by Johnny Mostil's self-inflicted wounds. One of them can hit and the other can field. Schalk may have to toss a coin to decide. After Sunday's rout, the veteran Red Faber on the mound the Sox victory Monday behind Alphonse Thomas' pitching was a great relief to the new manager. The Cubs manager Joe McCarthy is trying to reform an outfielder who can slug the ball into a third baseman. Riggs Stephenson is the boy.

The Cincinnati Reds had no games scheduled for Tuesday.

The Cleveland Indians were disappointed Monday when a Yammigan game was postponed and they lost their chance to trounce the regulars again.

CLOSE SEASON WITH APPLETON SEXTET HERE

ELIZABETH KRIES, CATHERINE HANDL, JOE LOGAN, MGR. MARGARET MACKENZIE, GLADYCE PERONTO, GRACE BONIN, RUTH HANSEN, ODELIA BURKART.

Pictured above is the Manitowoc Follies which battles the Appleton Women's club team in the final game of the season here Wednesday evening. The Ship city cagers had been scheduled for last Thursday evening but were unable to get here because of an automobile accident. The team battled to a 25-25 tie at Manitowoc recently and the game here is expected to be almost as close. The Follies hold wins over some of the strongest girls' teams in the state as well as three of Manitowoc's best men's teams.

The game will be called at 8 o'clock at Alexander gymnasium. The Follies lineup is headed by Miss Odelia Burkart who has run up a record of 93 points in fifteen games and has not gotten less than fifteen points in any game. Miss Burkart held the 1926 state record in the girls' throw-contest, having won it in high school last year. Other members of the team are Miss Elizabeth Kries, Margaret Mackenzie, Gladysce Peronto, Grace Bonin, Catherine Handl, Ruth Hansen and Arlene Urban.

Members of the Appleton team are Green and Meyer, forwards; Steiner and Schneider, guards; Landers and Tillman, side centers; Hitchler, jumping center. Miss Agnes Yanneman, physical director of the club, is the coach.

Boston - (AP) - Al Mello, Lowell, knocked out Ed Roberts, Tacoma, Wash., (1).

Canton, Ohio - Young Stribling, Macon, knocked out Red Fitzsimmons, San Antonio (4).

Pittsburg, Pa. - "K. O." Phil Kaplan, New York, won on a foul from Homer Robertson, Boston, (5).

New York - Honey Boy Finnegan, Boston, whipped Frankie Fink, Texas (19).

When Louis "Kid" Kaplan suddenly realized he could no longer make the featherweight limit and retired, many contenders laid claim to the right to wear the crown but not one of them was able to present a convincing argument.

Johnny Dundee, who retired undefeated, and who now insists he can still make the featherweight limit, says he is the champion since he was never defeated at the weight. Other claimants are Phil Rosenberg, who forfeited the bantam title; Honeyboy Finnegan, Benny Bass, Red Chapman, Al Foreman, Eddie Shea and Johnny Hill.

More recently, Charley Phil Rosenberg, unable to make the bantam weight for his championship bout with Bushy Graham, retired after the fight in which he decisively trimmed the highly touted Graham.

Prior to the Graham fight, the Chicago Boxing Commission named Bud Taylor as bantam champ when Rosenberg, for various reasons, failed to go through with the title bout between the two. Taylor is the western choice for the crown while eastern experts like Tony Canzoneri. Recently the two fought a sizzling draw. The question of superiority is therefore as undecided as ever.

In the flyweight class, Fidel LaBarra has suffered two setbacks at the hands of Johnny Vacca. Since the champion insisted Vacca come in overweight, the loss of the decision in no way affected the title.

Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, acquired the honors in that division by taking down a decision over the veteran Rocky Kansas, who had passed the peak long before he won the title. Mandell may find the going very rough if he consents to meet either Sid Terris, Billy Wallace, Kip Kaplan or Phil McGraw. There is some mighty good stock in the light-weight division.

Pete Latzo, boss of the welters, has done nothing to stamp him a great fighter since he beat Mickey Walker. Likewise, Walker's Chicago decision over Tiger Flowers to win the middleweight title added little to his ring reputation. Latzo also took a tumble in Texas from Clyde Hull.

There are still many who believe Jack Dempsey can whip Gene Tunney, king of the heavens. Surely there are sorry days for a rather sorry looking lot of champions.

Los Angeles - Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., lightweight champion, fought a no-decision bout with Jackie Feld, Los Angeles, (12).

New York - Earl "Littleboy" Blue St. Paul, won a technical knockout over Tex McEwan, Phil. (5).

CONSTITUTION OF STATE WAS FRAMED IN MODERN IDEAS

Discussions Paramount in 1847-48 Are Still Matters of Hot Debate

Madison—(P)—Despite the protest that progressives were showing a disposition to "deprive the sun of its functions and light the world with gas," Wisconsin's constitution was framed seventy-nine years ago and discussion of problems still modern. Most of the progressives then were found in the ranks of the democrats. The convention of 1847-48, at which the constitution was shaped, brought forth long debate on suffrage for aliens and other social and political problems still to the fore in American legislative gatherings.

Reviewing the contents of the "Journal and Debates" of the convention, Dr. Joseph Schafer, superintendent of the state historical society, declared that "some of the things the men thought are startlingly modern."

"The Journal is highly interesting book," he said, "and so rare that, unless reprinted, very few will ever see it."

"The subject of discussion on January 3, 1818, was the suffrage question, democrats contending that the privilege should be granted aliens who had declared their intention to become citizens. Samuel W. Beale of Fond du Lac was speaking in favor of that idea.

"He had called attention to similar provisions in the constitutions of Ohio and Illinois, declaring that the course taken by himself and his friends was not so unheard of as others would lead the convention to suppose.

"Regarding the cause of progress, he was always proud of it. In being a progressive, he felt that he had some little of the genius which characterizes American people. The idea that the constitution of the United States should not be improved had no place in his mind.

"Of late years we hear continually of conventions held for the amendment of constitutions," he said, "and what was this but progression? Last year three conventions were held for the purpose, at which, in New York, the first great blow was struck at the Stand Stills by making the office of judge elective by the people."

His victory in the play-off of 3 tie was by one stroke. Jones was not eligible to receive the prize because he is an amateur.

Smith will roll his doubles and singles Tuesday.

Three new leaders make their appearance Tuesday in each of the two man singles and all events. An 18-year old youth Jimmy Norris, jumped into second place in the all-events with a series of 646, 630 and 649 for an aggregate count of 1,925. J. Charecki of Columbus, Ohio, went into third place

Chicago—(P)—Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, former champion and challenger for the world's title Tuesday held a lead of four points on champion Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago as a result of the first 60 point block of their 200 point three cushion billiard match for the championship. Reisel scored 69 in Monday night's opener against Kieckhefer's 56.

Neither was in particularly good stroke though Reisel gave a brilliant exhibition in the first part of the game.

Ray Romney, Wilmington, Del., fought a draw with Johnny De Marco, Philadelphia.

Socold

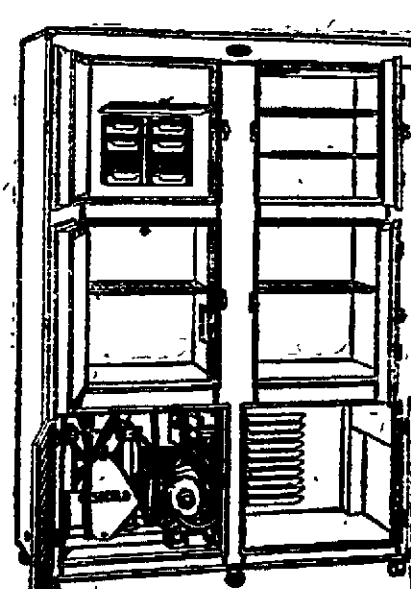

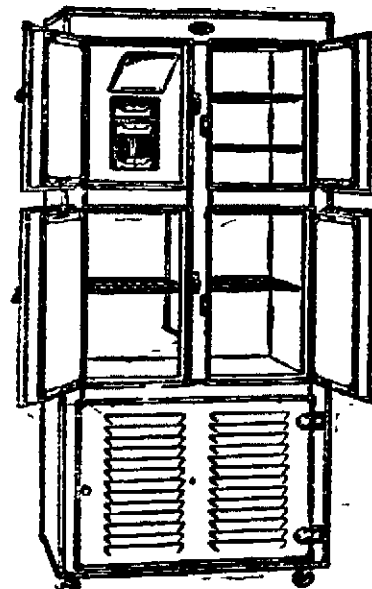

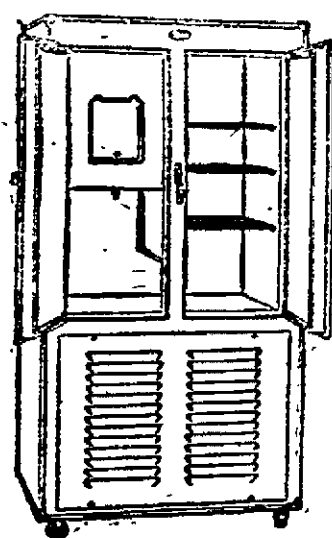

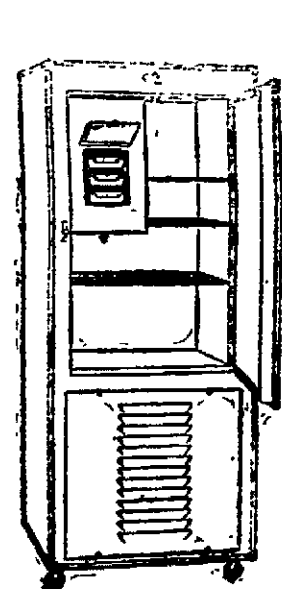

Sanitary Ice Cubes

Chilled Foods — Frozen Desserts
Perfect Refrigeration

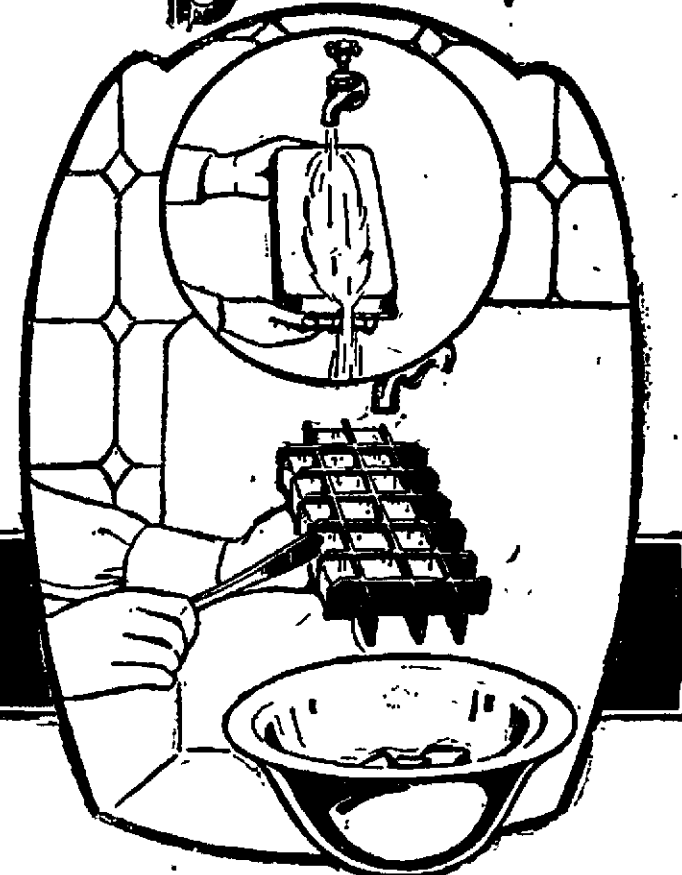

SOCOLD keeps food fresh for days and even weeks through the sultriest summer weather. Its dry, even cold preserves fruit and meat, chills tempting salads, makes delicious frozen desserts—all without the slightest trouble and at a cost for electricity of only a few cents a day.

Even during the hottest weather Socold's dry, even temperature of between 45° and 50° preserves meat, butter, milk and other foods perfectly.

More than this, it provides sanitary ice cubes for cooling drinks. It gives you dainty, frozen desserts without trouble or extra cost. It chills celery, lettuce and salads so they can be served as temptingly as at the finest restaurant.

Socold

Socold Advantages Are Permanent

THE Socold operating unit is so simple, quiet, efficient and so reliable at all times that you need scarcely give it a thought. It is economical, too, because, for perfect refrigeration (45° to 50°), the electric motor is in operation only about one-third of the time. The temperature can be regulated—the unit can be set to maintain uniform cold at a desired temperature.

The cabinets are of lifelong steel—light, strong, beautifully finished, thoroughly insulated, hermetically sealed inside and out. The steel cabinets are finished either in porcelain or baked enamel inside and out. There are also wood cabinets with baked enamel interiors for those who prefer wood exteriors.

Lastly, you may have the Socold installed in your present refrigerator—with the compressor placed in the basement if desired.

NEW ERA of refrigeration has begun. With a score or more of electric refrigerators on the market, the buying public seeks and needs experienced advice and expert assistance in making its selection. After the most careful consideration of the claims of competing manufacturers, the Finkle Electric Company announces the selection of Socold—"The Ideal Refrigeration Plant for the Home."

To the many friends and customers who have come to rely on the advice and recommendations of the Finkle Electric Company, this recommendation will go a long way towards determining their choice of an electric refrigerator. To others, who know the Finkle Electric Company only through a reputation built up by a quarter century of honest values, we suggest that they inspect and compare Socold with any or all other refrigerating plants for the home before they make a final selection.

The reputation and reliability of the company that sells, installs and services the electric refrigerator you buy is fully as important to you as the reputation of its manufacturer.

Whether you intend to buy now, later, or are merely "looking," you are cordially invited to come and inspect the Socold.

RADIO BOARD GETS STARTED DESPITE LACK OF CAPITAL

Department of Commerce
Donates Office, and Other Bureaus Offer Help

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—The radio commission wips its future fights as notably as it won its initial skirmish with Washington's red tape bogey, success is within its grasp.

The commission came into being without money as a result of the Senate filibuster. Now it is a historic body with a government body doing business without funds and tackling one of the most complicated messes such a body has ever had to solve.

First, the big-hearted Department of Commerce took the members in and gave them shelter. The department's bureau of navigation was moved out of the Commerce building to make way for the poverty-stricken strangers.

The commission accepted everything that came its way. It moved in without even a pencil to its name.

FURNITURE GRADUALLY IN.
Furniture gradually found its way in, however. The source of these pieces is somewhat mysterious. Apparently they came from other sections of the Commerce Department, but the commission was not inclined to ask questions.

A few typewriters turned up. Everyday, the commissioners found a new chair or something.

Even now, the commission hasn't a rug to its name and the offices are bare except for the most obvious necessities.

The main room of the navigation bureau was made available for a hearing room. Someone found a dozen, dirty, dilapidated old chairs in storage somewhere. Subsequently plans were made to borrow chairs from the Commerce Department's assembly room upstairs and to "regulate" from assembly rooms of other departments if necessary.

The commission has no stationery of its own. Its members and its secretary are forced to use blank writing paper and envelopes and the only document of this commission is the essential application for licenses.

It appears that the commission's credit is good, for a supply of these blanks was bought on trust from the government printing office.

JOB SEEKERS ARE ROUTED

The Departments of Agriculture, Justice, War and Navy, equipped with various forms of aid. The navy, for instance, furnished a messenger service.

Many applicants sought the job of secretary to the commission, but the bread line disappeared when advised that no money was available. Here
Secretary of Agriculture, Jardine stepped in and donated the valuable services of Sam Pickard, director of his department's radio service. Sam has been up to his neck ever since.

The Department of Justice graciously offered to lend whatever lawyers were needed by the commission.

A half dozen stenographers were loaned by the Agriculture, War and Navy Departments and by this time the commission was able to function in fairly acceptable fashion.

As a matter of fact, the day is really being saved by the knowledge that there will be money from the Commerce Department's surplus radio funds, which will be available for the commission's expenses. But nobody knows what this surplus will amount to and it is uncertain whether it will cover even the bare expenses to the end of this fiscal year.

Mrs. Caspar Janicki's own experience

"For three months
I was in a bad

most a wreck," she said. "Tand-frightened me. My pieces, the movements of my three children around the house irritated me."

"I gave Tanlac a trial. Three bottles brought me back to my old robust health. In a little while I was eating sleeping and feeling as well as ever.
Now I do my housework without tiring and I feel cheery and happy as

PAPER COMPANY IS ATTACKING STATE, U. S. POWER LAWS

Fox River Paper Co. Suit Against State Is Heard in U. S. Court This Week

Madison—The Wisconsin water power law, which gives to the state power to purchase at present day values any water power in the state after it has been utilized commercially for three years, is being attacked in the United States Supreme court this week.

State officials claim that should the Wisconsin water power act be held unconstitutional, the federal law on the subject would fall for the same reasons. The battle over the state water power act is considered by officials here of the most vital importance whether private interests or the state control basis of water power rights is the issue, declare officials of the state railroad commission.

The case involves the recapture clause of the Wisconsin water power law. Adolph Kammberg, member of the railroad commission, went to Washington Monday to represent Wisconsin before the United States
Supreme court in the case.

The Fox River Paper Co. owners of what is known as the middle dam at Appleton on the Fox river deny the right of the state to take over its property under the permit to rebuild for which it asks the state. They hold the recapture clause unconstitutional because in fixing the value for recapture when the permit is issued, it does not make allowance for the increase in value which may take place during the thirty years.

The state's contention is that the power capacity of the stream is not a riparian right, and is not private property, and that therefore the riparian owner is not entitled to any increase in the statute which attaches to it through the granting of the permit.

Attorneys for the paper companies which plan to rebuild the Appleton dams contend the Wisconsin water power act takes property without compensation and therefore is illegal.
An attempt was made at the last session of the legislature to grant a special franchise to the Appleton middle dam, but the proposal was defeated. It was then that the court action was started.

INSPECTOR UPHELD BY APPEAL BOARD

Rules That Resident Cannot Build Addition to His Home in City

The board of appeals at a meeting Monday morning upheld the building inspector in refusing to grant a permit to George H. Buesing, 1209 N.
Morrison-st., to build an addition to his home at that location. The board found the addition would extend beyond the line set by the zoning law.
Mr. Buesing applied to Walter Zschmechmer, building inspector, for a permit to build a sun parlor and sleeping porch on the front of his residence about a month ago and Zschmechmer refused to grant the permit on the ground that the addition would violate the zoning law.

In his appeal Mr. Buesing stated he has a large family and needed additional room. He said the only place he can build an addition is onto the front of his residence and said that the buildings on the street were not in line now and therefore he was not breaking the line by extending his home further toward the street.

Starting as a maid servant, Miss

States during 1926 reached a total farm value of $7,802,114,000 as compared with $8,949,321,000 in 1925.

land, tried to play golf in Central

BRETTSCHNEIDER'S Display of Fine Furniture, Draperies and Floor Coverings

Because the purpose of this show is to bring before the people of Appleton, the finest and new-

we were asked to exhibit in this model home. No "Better Homes Show" would be complete with-niture, rugs, draperies and lamps were of corresponding quality with the products of these two well known manufacturers, we consented to ex-products of Berkey-Gay is the very newest that can be had. It is the standard by which all other manufacturers who are endeavoring to make good furniture, make their comparisons.

As you enter the living room of this home you will see a modern American room. The davenport suite is the very latest interpretation of early American antiques.
It is made by Karpen and nothing more than that can be said of the quality of any furniture. The tables, rugs, lamps and other furnishings are of the finest quality to harmonize with Karpen.

Beautiful Rugs and Draperies

And now to harmonize with this display of fine furniture we wish to call your atten-

The doctor had just examined Sambo.

"Shaking his head seriously, he said, 'I think I will have to give you the X-ray treatment.'" Sambo's hand went into his pocket and he pulled out a well-worn wallet. After looking over its contents, he said to the doctor: "How, I ain't got much money, an' ef it's jus' de same to yo', just make dat a V-ray treatment!"
—Molly Pootz.

Hashful Ole
Ole Olson walked into a doctor's office for treatment of a rather severe ailment.

The doctor applied all of his talent in trying to locate the trouble. At last, satisfied that he had found the cause, he looked up and said, "Ole, I guess I will have to bring Violet Rays into play."
Ole Olson acted somewhat bashful, and then replied: "Doctor, Ay don't no know any games to play with said, so ef you don't mind please let Violet stay outside, sah!"

PRICES ADVANCE AT OPENING OF MARKET

Several Rail Stocks Reach Highest Point in Many Years in Early Trading

New York—Operations for the rice were resumed at the opening of Tuesday's stock market, with the rice again in the forefront of the advance. The Common touched its highest price in over 25 years. Union Pacific advanced to the highest level since 1914, and Western Maryland opened a point higher. U. S. Steel common opened fractionally higher at a new high record for all time. Remington Typewriter showed an initial gain of 2 points and General Motors.

Bullish operations in the general list were encouraged by the return of relatively easy call money rates and the fact that loans last week showed only a slight increase. Despite assertions of railroad executives that recent wage increases would curtail into cuttings unless accompanied by higher freight rates, heavy accumulation of the rails was resumed. The exception of Pan-American, which suffered a new low of selling, offered resistance to selling. General Motors were rather steady, but a good amount of demand developed for General Motors and Mack Trucks. Foreign exchanges were irregular, with N. Y. 15 cent jump in Spanish pesetas to 17.37 cents as the early feature. French francs just below 5.31 cents.

Railroads continued to lead in the spectacular advances that occurred in various shares during the forenoon. Western Maryland Second Preferred climbed over 10 points to 55 1/2, a new high record, on rumors that influential railroad interests were buying the stock in the open market. U. S. Steel common jumped 5 points and Philadelphia Company 4. Several stocks sustained losses of between 2 and 3 points, including Baldwin, Radio Corporation and American Agribusiness. The latter was down 10 points. The renewal rate for loans was reduced to 1 per cent.

The closing was firm. Total sales approximated 2,600,000 shares.

MARINETTE POST TO FETE LEGIONAIRES

Pre-convention Activities of State Legion Will Start
Wednesday

Marquette—(AP)—Pre-convention activities of the state American Legion will get under way this week when professional and business men will be entertained by the Teddy Budlong Post.

Wednesday, the day set for the get-together also will find the Legion Auxiliary presenting similar programs for the entertainment of Marquette women.

State Commander D. J. Kenny of West Bend will be one of the principal speakers at the legion meeting while brief addresses will also be given by Austin A. Peterson, department adjutant, of Milwaukee and P. A. Kirby, state vice-commander, of Stevens Point.

William H. Cudworth, state president of the auxiliary, will be the principal speaker before the women's group. It is planned to bring the speakers before both groups if arrangements can be completed.

Speeches alone, however, will not comprise the programs of the two meetings for vaudeville entertainment and musical selections will be presented by professional performers.

Mrs. Katherine Stiles Laughton, Menominee, president of the Upper Peninsula Division of the Auxiliary, and Mrs. Paul Christiansen, president of the Menominee unit will be honor guests at the branch affair, while Curry Prescott, commander of the Oscar Falk Post of Menominee and Harry Scott and Kenneth Doyle of the same organization, will be honor guests of the legion.

The meetings are expected to give impetus to the state convention plans which center around the meeting to be held here this summer. Residents of Marquette will have an opportunity to become acquainted with state officers through the contacts established at the meetings.

Plans for the get-togethers are being worked out by Mrs. Otto Hackbarth, president of the local auxiliary and several legion members headed by S. E. Eastman, Post Commander.

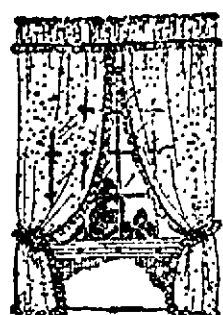

Other similar meetings may be held at a later date as preparations for the state gathering near completion, it was stated.

They will be safe in our icy storage vaults

It won't be long now before the fur coat will be too heavy for spring days. Then the question arises, "Where shall I keep it during the warm days of summer?" Don't put it in your cedar chest or into a dark closet. It will be at the mercy of moths there. Let us store it for you in our ice-cold storage vaults where it will be safe from moths, thieves and fire. Come in and let us tell you about it.
